Mrs. Minnie A. Chalmers, who has been making an extended visit with relatives in East Corinth and Groton, has returned to Barre to remain with her daughter for a time.

The name of Rev. Fred McNeill, pastor of the Graniteville Presbyterian church, was inadvertently omitted in connection with the account given in The Times of George H. Stuart's funeral Thursday.

Mrs. Abbie J. Balch of St. Johnsbury, who has been spending the winter in California, arrived in the city yesterday, having been summoned here by the illness and death of her brother, A. M. Morrison of 33 South Main street.

A number of Barre Spiritualists plan to go to Montpelier to-morrow afternoon to attend a meeting at which Wellman C. Whitney of Springfield, Mass., will be the principal speaker. The meeting is to be held in the Grand Army hall.

Spaulding high school's baseball team starts next week on the first trip of its schedule. The men, accompanied by Coach John Agnew, will leave Thursday night for Middlebury, playing the second team of Middlebury college Friday afternoon and proceeding to Burlington Saturday for a game with Burlington high school.

Officer Harry Gamble got a call to Blackwell street this morning and gathered in a sleeper by the side of the Central Vermont railroad track. As the tired one didn't feel equal to the task of walking up town, the officer commandeered a team and took his man to police headquarters. John Jarvis, as he gave his name, will be arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott in city court to-night on an intoxication charge.

Albert A. Creamer and A. M. Flanders went this morning to Plainfield, where they expect to meet a deputy of State Fisher and Game Commissioner John W. Titcomb of Lyndonville and proceed to Pigeon pond with 100,000 trout fry which the stockholders of Camp Kernal have received from one of the state fish hatcheries. Two small brooks which feed the pond are to be stocked with the fry.

Friends of Charles Falconer of South Barre desire to correct the impression that it was Mr. Falconer or his car that figured in an auto accident at Montpelier Thursday when a small boy was struck. Mr. Falconer's car, with wheels minus any semblance of pneumatic tires, is in his barn at South Barre, where it has been since last fall.

Mr. Falconer himself has been at the City hospital recovering from the effects of an operation for appendicitis, which he underwent three weeks ago and unless the unforeseen develops he will not return to his home in South Barre before Monday.

The remains of John Kendall, a well known Graniteville farmer, who died at his home in that town Tuesday evening, were brought to Barre over the Central Vermont railroad Friday afternoon at 4:40 o'clock, funeral services having been held in Graniteville in the forenoon at 9 o'clock. Accompanying the remains were the wife of the deceased, Mrs. Betty Kendall, his daughter, Miss Florence Kendall, of Arlington Heights, Mass., and Harry A. Kendall of this city, who was summoned to Graniteville by his father's critical condition early in the week. A number of other Barre people were in the funeral party that went from the station to Hope cemetery, where Rev. J. W. Barnett, pastor of the Congregational church, read the committal service at the graveside. Before returning to their respective homes, Mrs. Kendall and her daughter will visit at H. A. Kendall's home on Mount street.

"The most important business before the business men to-day is the business of public health. It is hoped that the stores will dress their windows in articles that deal in, belong to, or hint at cleanliness and health during clean-up week. Hardware stores can show garbage cans, garden hose, fly traps and rat traps. Dry goods merchants can show a pile of towels and soap, arranged around a bath tub. Grocers can make pure food displays and so can restaurants." The foregoing is one of the many excellent suggestions that have been made in connection with Barre's clean-up week, which begins Monday morning. Clean-up week is getting to be almost as much of a civic institution as the "sane Fourth." Hundreds of cities and villages have entered into the effort this year. City and village officials have designated a given week in May. Barre's clean-up week opens Monday morning "Get onto your job," is the slogan.

A replica of the famous Willard-Johnson mill at Havana recently, although drawn to a smaller scale was in progress on Depot square yesterday afternoon when Officer Gamble broke up an exchange of blows between one Canino and a countryman of his, Canino Canino. According to bystanders, Canino drove his left to the Canino jaw only after a wordy debate had failed to settle the differences in which the pair were locked. Officer Gamble was soon joined by Officers John W. Dixon, who was off duty at the time, and Canino, alleged to have been the aggressor in the scuffle, was taken to police headquarters. Later in the afternoon he was arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott on a breach of the peace charge, to which he pleaded guilty and paid a $2 fine with costs of $5.20. The respondent gave his name as Leopold Canino Canino and the court records showed that he answered to two similar charges last fall.

Barre baseball fans will have their choice of two games this afternoon unless it is decided to defer the contests on account of unpropitious weather. At the Lincoln school campus Spaulding is booked for a game with the B. A. C. and at the same time Goddard seminary will be playing its first game with the Italian A. C. at the Berlin street field.

In the Howland hall last evening, about 30 people attended the exhibition dancing that was given under the auspices of Professor Elmore. Nearly all in attendance were the young people that Mr. Elmore has been giving lessons during the winter. All acquitted themselves very well. A number of the audience came from Montpelier. During the evening, sandwiches, wafers and punch were served.

A consignment of 20,000 trout fry from the United States fish hatchery at Roxbury arrived at the Central Vermont station this morning and was turned over to a party of local sportsmen who have leased the fishing rights on a brook which winds its way through the towns of Berlin and Northfield. James Parker, James Hector, Frank Sassi and Albert Tongway went to Berlin this forenoon with the trout fry and under the direction of Mr. Parker, who for several years was a game warden in his native town of St. Blaze, Eng., the consignment was placed in the water. Having obtained permission from the state fish and game commissioners to screen a section of the brook, the owners of the fry went prepared to insert screens at a point not far from Berlin pond.

Some of the preliminary arrangements for the annual field day of the Spanish-American war veterans' association are being discussed and early indications are that the outing this year will be fully up to the standard of other years. The anniversary of the day back in '98 when the boys of the first Vermont regiment were mustered into the service of Uncle Sam falls on Sunday this year and it is expected that the observance will be set for Saturday, May 15, instead of May 16. If it develops that a large number of veterans are to find it more convenient to join in the reunion on Monday, then the field exercises will be held May 17. Caldonia park has been selected as the meeting place and invitations to all honorably discharged soldiers or sailors of the Spanish-American war are to be issued.

The annual meeting of the Bonaccord football club will be held in their pavilion Monday, May 3, at 3 o'clock. Inviting members invited. A. W. Cornack, secretary.

The funeral of Andrew M. Morrison, whose death Friday morning followed a long illness, will be held in the Hedding Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. E. F. Newell, officiating. Previous to the services at the church, prayers will be said at the house, 33 South Main street, at 2:30 o'clock.

At the meeting of the Barre Golf club last evening it was decided to extend the water across the course to six of the nine greens and it is expected the work will be done at once. The course is now in excellent condition and the men's weekly tournament will be started next week, about two weeks earlier than usual. Several improvements have already been made at the course, including the repainting of the clubhouse, the making of a new green, etc.
